A. Jones,M. Christopher Brown II,Kassie Freeman,2004-03-30 Black colleges are central to the delivery of higher education Notwithstanding there is scant treatment of these key institutions in the research literature There is a need for a comprehensive and cogent understanding of the primary characteristics of the policies and practices endemic to black colleges This book provides the scholarly basis requisite to organize give meaning to and shape the analyses and applications of policy and practice within the black college The collected chapters respond to the paucity of research literature addressing these institutions In each chapter the authors acknowledge the specific characteristics of black colleges that make them unique Understanding the fundamental characteristics that shape black colleges is critical to gaining a comprehensive understanding of higher education at large The policy and praxis challenges exhibited at black colleges serve as exemplars to how all colleges perform their respective functions in society Black colleges serve as testimonies to the transformative power of adversity and beacons of possibility in an era of retrenchment and ambiguity These roles call on black colleges to aid and assist in creating an opportunity for educational change The Dentists Register ,2006 *The Right Thing to Do, The Geneviève Massard-Guilbaud,Stephen Mosley,2010-10-12 Today's environmental problems climate change loss of biodiversity polluted air land and water all have their origins to a greater or lesser extent in how we have lived played and worked At a time when societies are confronted with the often dramatic consequences of past choices made in the fields of energy technology industry agriculture urbanisation and consumption we need a history that casts more light on the ways in which unsustainable human nature relationships came into being This means forging stronger connections between social and environmental history Common Ground opens up a dialogue between two sub disciplines that to date have remained largely parallel endeavours bringing together both established and younger scholars from both fields to explore how people s everyday lives have connected to their environments and with what effects The book is organised in six sections leisure and environment nature and conservation environmental conflicts folk and scientific knowledge environmental disasters and energy industry and urban infrastructure By exploring the complex interplay between people s day to day activities and ecological change especially the values beliefs and environmental experiences of ordinary men and women we can better understand our past relationships with nature and perhaps make more informed planning and policy choices in the future

Lang,2007 Sleep apnea or sleep apnoea is a sleep disorder characterised by pauses in breathing during sleep These episodes called apneas literally without breath each last long enough so one or more breaths are missed and occur repeatedly throughout sleep There are two distinct forms of sleep apnea Central and Obstructive Breathing is interrupted by the lack of effort in Central Sleep Apnea but from a physical block to airflow despite effort in Obstructive Sleep Apnea In Mixed Sleep Apnea both types of events occur Regardless of type the individual affected with sleep apnea is rarely if ever aware of having difficulty breathing even upon awakening Sleep apnea is recognised as a problem by others witnessing the individual during episodes or is suspected because of its effects on the body sequelae This book presents important new research in this field Corrupted Jonathan D Jansen,2023-02 Through investigatory reports and interviews Jonathan Jansen reveals the structural conditions for chronic dysfunction in a sample of South African universities He reveals the political economy at work and the intense competition for resources on campuses He also provides interventions for these fragile institutions Why do some universities seem to be in a constant state of turmoil and dysfunction Jonathan Jansen explores the root causes of chronic instability in a sample of South African universities Through scrutiny of investigatory reports and interviews with more than 100 university managers and government officials Jansen finds that at the heart of the dysfunction in universities is an intense and sometimes deadly competition for resources especially on campuses located in impoverished communities It is not the lack of institutional resources but their concentration in a university that draws a mix of corrupt actors from local politicians and taxi operators to members of council and management into a never ending run on the material such as money for infrastructure and symbolic namely graduation certificates for sale assets of these institutions Jansen argues that the problem won't be solved through investments in capacity building alone because the combination of institutional capacity and institutional integrity contributes to serial instability in universities Jansen makes an important intervention to understanding the root causes and offers interventions to produce stabilities such as the depoliticisation of university councils and appointing academics of integrity and capacity in the management and leadership of these fragile institutions This groundbreaking and long overdue study will offer a promising way forward for universities to better serve their communities and the country more broadly
