Medical Malpractice Frank A. Sloan, Lindsey M. Chepke, 2008 Most experts would agree that the current medical malpractice system in the United States does not work effectively either to compensate victims fairly or prevent injuries caused by medical errors Policy responses to a series of medical malpractice crises have not resulted in effective reform and have not altered the fundamental incentives of the stakeholders In Medical Malpractice economist Frank Sloan and lawyer Lindsey Chepke examine the U S medical malpractice process from legal medical economic and insurance perspectives analyze past efforts at reform and offer realistic achievable policy recommendations They review the considerable empirical evidence in a balanced fashion and assess objectively what works in the current system and what does not Sloan and Chepke argue that the complexity of medical malpractice stems largely from the interaction of the four discrete markets that determine outcomes legal medical malpractice insurance medical care and government activity After describing what the evidence shows about the functioning of medical malpractice types of defensive medicine and the effects of past reforms they examine such topics as scheduling damages as an alternative to flat caps jury behavior health courts incentives to prevent medical errors insurance regulation reinsurance no fault insurance and suggestions for future reforms Medical Malpractice is the most comprehensive treatment of malpractice available integrating findings from several different areas of research and describing them accessibly in nontechnical language It will be an essential reference for anyone interested in medical malpractice Frank A Sloan is J Alexander McMahon Professor of Health Policy and Management and Professor of Economics at Duke University He is the coauthor of The Price of Smoking MIT Press 2004 and author or editor of many other books on health economics Lindsey M Chepke an attorney is a Research Associate at the Center for Health Policy at Duke University
