Monetary and Capital Markets Department,International Monetary Fund. Fiscal Affairs Dept.,2013-07-03 High uncertainty in general and high policy uncertainty more specifically can have important impact on global investment and output growth Much of the recent policy uncertainty emanated from the United States and Europe the world s two largest economies Spillovers from policy uncertainty can occur through several channels Trade can be affected if increased policy uncertainty adversely affects economic activity and import demand in the United States and Europe Policy uncertainty could also raise global risk aversion resulting in sharp corrections in financial markets and capital outflows from emerging markets This background note attempts to quantify the impact of U S and European policy uncertainty on other regions Specifically it addresses the following questions What do we mean by policy uncertainty How well can we measure it How has policy uncertainty in the United States and Europe evolved during the past several decades And how large are the spillovers to economic activity in other regions The analysis suggests that sharp increases in U S and European policy uncertainty in the past have temporarily lowered investment and output in other regions to varying degrees It also suggests that a marked decrease in policy uncertainty in the United States and Europe in the near term could help boost global investment and output Rwanda International Monetary Fund. and Tobago International Monetary Fund. Western Hemisphere Dept.,2013-10-03 This 2013 Article IV Consultation highlights that the economy of Trinidad and Tobago is poised for a modest recovery in 2013 after disappointing growth in 2012 that was owing to largely supply constraints including maintenance operations in the energy sector and an industrial dispute in the nonenergy sector The IMF staff projects real GDP growth of some 1.5 percent in 2013 with risks slightly to the downside should development spending be under executed Headline inflation rose to 9.3 percent in 2012 Executive Directors welcomed the signs of economic recovery fueled by growth of the nonenergy sector Kenya International Monetary Fund. African Dept.,2013-04-30 Economic activity in Kenya has remained resilient to uncertainty surrounding the elections the impact of the European crisis and security related concerns Fiscal policy is in line with the program despite difficulties International reserves are on the rise and the deficit of the external current account has shrunk significantly Key structural reforms to strengthen the institutional framework are under way A peaceful political transition strengthened macroeconomic conditions and structural reforms could unleash Kenya's growth potential attract foreign investment and lay the basis for transforming the country into an emerging market economy Tonga International Monetary Fund. Asia and Pacific Dept.,2014-08-07 KEY ISSUES Context Tonga's economy is rebounding partially owing to a recovery in agricultural exports The outlook for tourism is also improving The reconstruction from a recent cyclone is expected to lead to both a temporary boost to growth and additional financing needs Risks to the inflation outlook and the external position are low Fiscal Policy The projected fiscal cost relating to the cyclone will be largely met by confirmed funding mainly from donor agencies In the near term the authorities should focus on reconstruction activities while a medium term fiscal strategy should aim at gradually stabilizing and then reducing the debt to GDP ratio in order to improve Tonga's moderate risk of debt distress This will require careful execution of investments related to the 2019 South Pacific Games Monetary Policy The deleveraging cycle of the Tongan banks appears to be ending and thus National Reserve Bank of Tonga should prepare to gradually withdraw liquidity and tighten monetary conditions once the current signs of a recovery of credit growth are confirmed The authorities plan to lower the cost of credit through supportive credit policies including by commercializing the Tonga Development Bank The successful implementation of such plan requires sound safeguards including a robust governance structure and firm risk management and accountability frameworks Structural Policy Structural reforms to facilitate the functioning of credit markets need to be implemented with renewed vigor The authorities intention to gradually phase out existing ad hoc tax incentives is well placed The promotion of foreign direct investments should focus on business enabling structural reforms while the use of tax incentives should be minimized and well targeted Malawi International Monetary Fund. African Dept.,2014-02-07 This paper focuses on Malawi's Third and Fourth Reviews Under the Extended Credit Facility ECF Arrangement Donors have suspended some aid disbursements to Malawi in response to a scandal involving the theft of public funds Recovery is under way in many sectors of the economy facilitated by increased availability of foreign exchange

Performance in relation to quantitative targets for the third ECF review was good but weakened for the fourth review There was significant fiscal slippage excessive domestic borrowing during July September 2013 The IMF Staff supports the authorities requests for waivers based on corrective actions and policy commitments The Report: Myanmar 2019 Oliver Cornock, Although Myanmar has been faced with internal conflict a new long term economic agenda alongside rising oil and gas prices and considerable growth in some manufacturing segments are set to encourage increased foreign direct investment inflows into the country Jamaica International Monetary Fund. Western Hemisphere Dept.,2018-04-16 This 2018 Article IV Consultation highlights that Jamaica s GDP growth is estimated to have been a disappointing 0.5 percent in 2017 Weakness in agriculture slow recovery in mining and a deceleration in manufacturing offset growth in tourism and construction The growth forecast is being revised down to 0.9 percent in FY17/18 and about 2.25 percent in the medium term Inflation remains well anchored Higher food prices resulting from flooding have begun to unwind The current account deficit remains relatively low at 2.8 percent of GDP in FY17/18 and it is expected to shrink over the medium term as oil prices remain contained and tourism earnings improve Lao People's Democratic Republic International Monetary Fund. Asia and Pacific Dept,2013-12-20 This 2013 Article IV Consultation highlights that over the past year the economy of the Lao People s Democratic Republic has been overheating from expansionary macroeconomic policies The fiscal deficit is estimated to have widened to 61.2 percent of GDP mainly from a doubling of public sector employee compensation and higher capital spending Government liquidity is tight and wage and other arrears of 2.3 percent of GDP have emerged Monetary policy has been accommodative and credit growth remains vigorous Although medium term growth prospects remain favorable based on robust natural resource exports and post WTO expansion in the nonresource sectors heightened vulnerabilities have subjected the outlook to considerable uncertainty International Public Policy Analysis George Guess,Thomas Husted,2016-07-15 Most public policy analysis books currently on the market are US centric and focused on quantitative analysis while comparative public policy textbooks are oriented around countries and specific policy processes International Public Policy Analysis is the first textbook to take a truly comparative and cross cultural approach organized around policy issues to examine important policy lessons that affect the everyday lives of citizens Authors George Guess and Thomas Husted demonstrate that incremental marginal changes in sectoral policy systems using cross national lessons can lead to larger changes in country policies democracy and better governance While whole systems policy transfer without major adaptation to local cultural and institutional contexts often does not work many opportunities exist in each sector for operational level piecemeal transfer of lessons and practices to improve policy performance Jargon free and using a cross cultural approach the individual chapters in this book utilize a 3 level analysis to review the policy issue areas present analytic tools and frameworks and provide cases exercises for practice in applying the methods and frameworks International Public Policy Analysis is an essential upper level undergraduate and graduate textbook for courses on comparative public policy policy process political economy and international policy analysis and may also be used as required reading in introductory public affairs and policy courses at the graduate level Bhutan International Monetary Fund. Asia and Pacific Dept.,2014-07-01 This 2014 Article IV Consultation highlights that the GDP growth in Bhutan has slowed from about 10 percent in FY2011 July 1 June 30 to 5 percent in FY2013 Slower growth reflects policy efforts to contain overheating pressures in the form of restrictions on credit for construction and vehicle Inflation has remained elevated tracking closely that of India Bhutan s main trading partner Social development indicators have improved steadily and Bhutan is on track or has achieved most of its Millennium Development Goals Growth is projected to recover to 61 2 percent in FY2014 driven mainly by a pick up in hydropower related construction activities and domestic services Liberia International Monetary Fund. African Dept.,2012-12-21 The 2012 Article IV Consultation with Liberia discusses the economic developments and policies of the country Liberia recorded strong macroeconomic performance under the three year Extended Credit Facility ECF Arrangement but poverty continued to be pervasive The short to medium term outlook has remained favorable although subject to considerable risks Following resumption of iron ore exports in 2011 real GDP growth is estimated at 9 percent in 2012 supported by strong growth in the mining sector and expansionary fiscal policy for infrastructure investment IMF staff supports the authorities request for a successor arrangement under the ECF
