Lost Letters from Vienna Sue Course,2019-11-01 In 1977 Sue Course discovered a box of airmail letters in the dark recesses of a cupboard written in German Her German was rusty but she could see that most were from her parents and grandparents and were written from the time of the Nazi invasion of Vienna in 1938 The letters revealed a gripping tale of their war and that of their extended family the stories of those who escaped and eventually resettled across the globe and their experiences in that process The story was fleshed out through the later discovery of diaries and far flung family members war memoirs For Sue's family their entitlement to be a part of Viennese society and a citizen of the Austrian nation itself was lost when the Nazis annexed her country Sue was just four when she arrived in Australia with her family too young to appreciate the penurious circumstances of their life at a time where German speaking foreigners were viewed as enemy aliens and where there was little immediate opportunity for non English speaking professionals to find respect or employment in their professions Antipodean life was a far cry from the genteel experience of being raised in Vienna and this story documents superbly the displacement dislocation and immense

Self, Others and the State Arlie Loughnan, 2019-12-12 Criminal responsibility is now central to criminal law but it is in need of re examination In the context of Australian criminal laws Self Others and the State reassesses

the general assumptions made about the rise to prominence of criminal responsibility in the period since around the turn of the twentieth century It reconsiders the role of criminal responsibility in criminal law arguing that criminal responsibility is significant because it organises key sets of relations between self others and the state as relations of responsibility Detailed studies of decisive moments and developments since the turn of the twentieth century and original explorations of relations of responsibility expose the complexity and dynamism of criminal responsibility and reveal that it is the means by which matters of subjectivity relationality and power make themselves felt in the criminal law
