Contract and Property in Early Modern China Madeleine Zelin, 2004-02-18 Providing a new perspective on economic and legal institutions particularly on contract and property in Qing and Republican history this volume provides case studies to explicate how these institutions worked while situating them firmly in their broader social context The Blacks of Premodern China Don J. Wyatt, 2012-02-28 Premodern Chinese described a great variety of the peoples they encountered as black The earliest and most frequent of these encounters were with their Southeast Asian neighbors specifically the Malaysians But by the midimperial times of the seventh through seventeenth centuries C E exposure to peoples from Africa chiefly slaves arriving from the area of modern Somalia Kenya and Tanzania gradually displaced the original Asian blacks in Chinese consciousness In The Blacks of Premodern China Don J Wyatt presents the previously unexamined story of the earliest Chinese encounters with this succession of peoples they have historically regarded as black A series of maritime expeditions along the East African coastline during the early fifteenth century is by far the best known and most documented episode in the story of China s premodern interaction with African blacks Just as their Western contemporaries had the Chinese aboard the ships that made landfall in Africa encountered peoples whom they frequently classified as savages Yet their perceptions of the blacks they met there differed markedly from those of earlier observers at home in that there was little choice but to regard the peoples encountered as free The premodern saga of dealings between Chinese and blacks concludes with the arrival in China of Portuguese and Spanish traders and Italian clerics with their black slaves in tow In Chinese writings of the time the presence of the slaves of the Europeans becomes known only through sketchy mentions of black bondservants Nevertheless Wyatt argues that the story of these late premodern blacks laboring anonymously in China under their European masters is but a more familiar extension of the previously untold story of their ancestors who toiled in Chinese servitude perhaps in excess of a millennium earlier The Rule of Laws Fernanda Pirie, 2021-11-18 A fascinating comprehensive study that forces us to think again about what law is and why it matters For those who want to understand why human society has emerged as it has this is essential reading Rana Mitter author of China s Good War The laws now enforced throughout the world are almost all modelled on systems developed in Europe in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries During two hundred years of colonial rule Europeans exported their laws everywhere they could But they weren t filling a void in many places they displaced traditions that were already ancient when Vasco Da Gama first arrived in India Where then did it all begin And what has law been and done over the course of human history In The Rule of Laws pioneering anthropologist Fernanda Pirie traces the development of the world s great legal systems Chinese Indian Roman and Islamic and the innumerable smaller traditions they inspired Social Order through Contracts Jian Qu, 2021-02-04 This book is the first Western language monograph on the study of the Qingshui River manuscripts By examining over 3 000 contracts and other manuscripts this book offers constructive insights into the long standing question of how and why a society in late imperial China could maintain a well functioning social system with few laws but many contracts i.e. Hobbesian words without sword Three interrelated questions what contracts were how and why they worked are explained successively Thus this book presents a non stereotypical contract society in southwest China arguing that the social order which provides predictability and regularity for economic prosperity could be formed and maintained through contracts even under the condition of relatively weak influence of governmental and legal authorities This book benefits readers who are interested in law society and history While presenting the socio legal landscape of a frontier area in late imperial China for historians this book provides a novel and empirical interpretation of the supposedly well known contract device for legal researchers thereby proposing materials for an integrated theoretical explanatory framework of contracts in general By employing the innovative theory of blockchain in its key argumentation the book offers a creative interpretation of historical and social phenomena

The Limits of the Rule of Law in China Karen G. Turner, James V. Feinerman, R. Kent Guy, 2000-02-01 In The Limits of the Rule of Law in China fourteen authors from different academic disciplines reflect on questions that have troubled Chinese and Western scholars of jurisprudence since classical times Using data from the early 19th century through the contemporary period they analyze how tension between formal laws and discretionary judgment is discussed and manifested in the Chinese context The contributions cover a wide range of topics from interpreting the rationale for and legacy of Qing practices of collective punishment confession at trial and bureaucratic supervision to assessing the political and cultural forces that continue to limit the authority of formal legal institutions in the People's Republic of China

The Asian Mediterranean François Gipouloux, 2011-01-01 This intensive monograph The Asian Mediterranean is a great synthesis of east west maritime worlds under an emerging global world Professor Gipouloux has combined historical studies on global maritime seas with regional economic studies on Asia He also integrates historical interaction between maritime seas and coastal port cities by creating the imaginative geo economical concept of the East Asian economic corridor running between Vladivostok and Singapore and locating China Japan and Southeast Asia into this maritime area To attain this goal Professor Gipouloux globalises China through north south east west and past present combinations using cross disciplinary approaches political economy geography and international relations under wide historical perspectives The Asian Mediterranean opens a new horizon to look into Asia from a global perspective and at the same time reminds us of the connection beyond contrast between East and West Takeshi Hamashita Tokyo University Japan and Sun Yat sen University Guangzhou China A fascinating analysis of the proposition that the start of the 21st century is witnessing the rapid rise in South East Asia of a new and powerful transnational economic zone the Asian Mediterranean It uses a wide range of historical and contemporary multidisciplinary sources to systematically explore how why and in what ways we can better interpret and understand this contemporary version of economic globalisation by looking back to the equivalent processes centred on the ports around the Mediterranean and the Baltic seas during the late 16th century Peter Daniels University of Birmingham UK Fran ois Gipouloux has written a vast and comprehensive history of the Asian economic system In the tradition of Braudel he paints a picture that is detailed full of insight and essentially very long term On the basis of an analysis of the old Mediterranean and Hanseatic economic networks he surveys the pre modern Asian system bringing it up to date with studies of Yokohama Hong Kong Singapore and other Asian hubs The culmination of many years work Gipouloux throws light on a new China a China no longer land based and inward looking but dependent on and a power in a maritime world Christopher Howe University of London UK Gipouloux s ground breaking study based on a long career as a scholar of Asia s past is a most original contribution to the study of globalization Connecting past and present the author has further developed the somewhat vague metaphor of an Asian Mediterranean into a well defined concept that can also be applied to analyzing contemporary affairs While in the past the traditional Chinese and Japanese state systems were failing to formulate adequate answers on a more informal level the port cities were able to meet with the maritime challenges of the emerging modern world system The author convincingly shows how also in the age of globalization a string of coastal metropolises continues to be instrumental in opening up the Far Eastern economy to the global economy Leonard Blussé Leiden University The Netherlands This insightful book draws upon a wide range of disciplines political economy geography and international relations to examine how Asia has returned to its central position in the world economy As in the case of the hosting of the Olympic games it is cities rather than states which compete whether as financial centres logistical hubs or platforms for coordinating international subcontracting Analysing the historical precedents of the Mediterranean maritime republics the Baltic Sea Hanseatic League and the South China Sea mercantile kingdoms the book delineates the way stable economic and legal institutions were developed largely beyond the purview of and at times in conflict with the State Discussing the strong link between history and contemporary economic situation The Asian Mediterranean will appeal to academics includin Studies of Bactrian Legal Documents Hossein Sheikh,2022-12-05 Studies of Bactrian Legal Documents deals with legal texts written in Bactrian an eastern Middle Iranian language between the 4th and 8th centuries CE The work aims to give insight in the Bactrian legal formulary as well as its historical context In order to achieve that the author carefully examines the terms and phrases in the legal documents and clarifies their function Then he explores the historical background of expressions and wordings To this end he uses documents from other regions of the Near East spanning from Egypt to Turkestan
