Neoliberalism Cultural Transition Literature 1984 2008:

Neoliberalism in Context Simon Dawes, Marc Lenormand, 2019-11-23 Neoliberalism in Context adopts a processual relational and contextual framework bringing together contributions from diverse national and disciplinary contexts and bridging theoretical and methodological approaches to critiquing neoliberalism The book presents arguments on the extent to which we are still living in neoliberal times and illustrates examples of variation in the practice of neoliberalization and within neoliberal thought The contributions also examine the mediation and significance of existing neoliberalism on subjectivity and address the consequences of the neoliberalization of education for critical thinking generally and for the critique of neoliberalism in particular This collection will be of interest to students and scholars across sociology international relations urban studies and media and cultural studies To access an introduction by Simon Dawes and an interview with Jamie Peck download the front and back matter for free from SpringerLink

Screening the Gothic in Australia and New Zealand Jessica Gildersleeve, Kate Cantrell, 2025-10-01 The persistent popularity of the detective narrative new obsessions with psychological and supernatural disturbances as well as the resurgence of older narratives of mystery or the Gothic all constitute a vast proportion of contemporary film and television productions New ways of watching film and television have also seen a reinvigoration of this most domestic of media But what does this domesticity of genre and media look like Down Under in the twenty first century This collection traces representations of the Gothic on both the small and large screens in Australia and New Zealand in the twenty first century It attends to the development and mutation of the Gothic in these post or neo colonial contexts concentrating on the generic innovations of this temporal and geographical focus

Uncommon Wealths in Postcolonial Fiction Helga Ramsey-Kurz, Melissa Kennedy, 2017-11-01 Uncommon Wealths in Postcolonial Fiction engages urgently with wealth testing current assumptions of inequality in order to push beyond reductive contemporary readings of the gaping abyss between rich and poor Shifting away from longstanding debates in postcolonial criticism focused on poverty and abjection the book marshals fresh perspectives on material spiritual and cultural prosperity as found in the literatures of formerly colonized spaces The chapters follow the money to illuminate postcolonial fiction's awareness of the ambiguities of wealth acquired under colonial capitalism and transmuted in contemporary neoliberalism They weigh idealistic projections of individual and collective wellbeing against the stark realities of capital accumulation and excessive consumption They remain alert to the polysemy suggested by Uncommon Wealths both registering the imperial economic urge to ensure common wealth and referencing the unconventional or non Western the unusual even fictitious and contrasting privately coveted and exclusively owned wealth with visions of a shared good Arranged into four sections centred on aesthetics injustice indigeneity and cultural location the individual chapters show how writers of postcolonial fiction including Aravind Adiga Amit Chau dhuri Anita Desai Patricia Grace Mohsin Hamid Stanley Gazemba Tomson Highway Lebogang Matseke Zakes Mda Michael Ondaatje Kim Scott and Alexis Wright employ prosperity and affluence as a lens through which to re-examine issues of race ethnicity gender and family the cultural value of heritage land and social cohesion and such conflicting imperatives as economic growth individual fulfilment social and environmental responsibility and just distribution

Neoliberalism and Cultural Transition in New Zealand Literature, 1984-2008 Jennifer Lawn, 2015-11-25 Through a literary lens Neoliberalism and Cultural Transition in New Zealand Literature 1984 2008 Market Fictions examines the ways in which the reprise of market based economics has impacted the forms of social exchange and cultural life in a settler colonial context Jennifer Lawn proposes that postcolonial literary studies needs to take more account of the way in which the new configuration of dominance increasingly gathered under the umbrella term of neoliberalism works in concert with rather than against assertions of cultural identity on the part of historically subordinated groups The pre eminence of new right economics over the past three decades has raised a conundrum for writers on the left while neoliberalism has tended to undermine collective social action it has also fostered expressions of identity in the form of cultural capital which minority communities can exploit for economic gain Neoliberalism and Cultural Transition in New Zealand Literature 1984 2008 advocates for reading practices that balance the appeals of culture against the structuring forces of social class and the commodification of identity while not losing sight of the specific aesthetic qualities of literary fiction Jennifer Lawn demonstrates the value of this approach in a wide ranging account of New Zealand literature Movements towards decolonization in a bicultural society are read within the context of a marginal post industrial economy that was in many ways a test case for radical free market reforms Through a study of politically engaged writing across a range of genres by both Maori and non Maori authors the New Zealand experience shows in high relief the twinned dynamics of a decline in the ideal of social egalitarianism and the corresponding rise of the idea of culture as a transformative force in economic and civic life tending ultimately to blur the distinction between these spheres altogether This work includes well recognized authors such as Alan Duff Patricia Grace Witi Ihimaera Eleanor Catton and Maurice Gee but also introduces a number of non canonical or emergent writers whose work is discussed in detail for the first time in this volume The result is a distinctive literary history of a turbulent period of social and economic change

Neoliberalism and Globalization in Africa Joseph Mensah, 2008-11-15 Discusses Africa's involvement in contemporary neoliberal globalization from a social economic political and cultural perspective This book describes the unbalanced structure of global wealth and power between Africa and the rest of the world
