a degree in Fine Arts and a profound appreciation for design Hitchcock's insights reflect not only a scholarly expertise but also a passionate engagement with the evolution of built environments Architecture Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries is an essential read for students historians and anyone with a keen interest in the architectural narratives that define modern society Hitchcock's authoritative analysis offers a lens through which to appreciate the transformative power of architecture and encourages readers to critically engage with the spaces they inhabit Syntactic architecture and its consequences

II András Bárány, Theresa Biberauer, Jamie Douglas, Sten Vikner, 2020-12-30 This volume collects novel contributions to comparative generative linguistics that rethink existing approaches to an extensive range of phenomena domains and architectural questions in linguistic theory At the heart of the contributions is the tension between descriptive and explanatory adequacy which has long animated generative linguistics and which continues to grow thanks to the increasing amount and diversity of data available to us The chapters address research questions in comparative morphosyntax including the modelling of syntactic categories relative clauses and demonstrative systems Many of these contributions show the influence of research by Ian Roberts and collaborators and give the reader a sense of the lively nature of current discussion of topics in morphosyntax and morphosyntactic variation Southeast Asian Personalities of Chinese Descent Leo Suryadinata, 2012 This is a bold project recording the lives of a particular group of Southeast Asians Most of the people whose biographies are included here have settled down in the ten countries that constitute the region Each of them has either self-identified as Chinese or is comfortable to be known as someone of Chinese ancestry There are also those who were born in China or elsewhere who came here to work and do business including seeking help from others who have ethnic Chinese connections With the political and economic conditions of the region in a great state of flux for the past two centuries it is impossible to find consistency in the naming process Confucius had stressed that correct names make for the best relationships In this case Professor Leo Suryadinata has been pursuing for decades the elusive goal of finding the right name to give to the large numbers of people who have in one way or another made their homes in or made some difference to Southeast Asia I believe that when he and his colleagues selected the biographies to be included here they have taken a big step towards the rectification of identities for many leading personalities In so doing he has done us all a great service Professor Wang Gungwu National University of Singapore *MoMoWo · 100 projects in 100 years. Folkers,Belinda A. C. van Buiten,2019-07-22 This book offers unique insights into modern African architecture influenced by modern European architecture and at the same time a natural successor to existing site specific and traditional architecture It brings together the worlds of traditional site specific architecture with the Modernist Project in Africa which to date have only been considered in isolation The book covers the four architectural disciplines urban planning building technology building physics and conservation It includes an introduction with a historical outline and an analysis and comparison of a number of projects in various countries in Africa On the basis of examples drawn from practice the author documents and describes the hybrid architectural forms that have emerged from the confrontation and fusion with pre modern Western architecture and urban planning and in so doing he also narrates the history of African architecture Architecture and the Housing Question Can Bilsel,Juliana Maxim,2022-06-29 Architecture and the Housing Question examines how the design and provision of housing around the world have become central both to competing political projects and to the architecture profession How have architects acting as housing experts helped alleviate or enforce class race and gender inequality What are the disciplinary implications of taking on shelter for the multitude as an architectural assignment and responsibility The book features essays in the historiography of architecture and the housing question and a collection of historical case studies from Belgium China France Ghana the Netherlands Kenya the Soviet Union Turkey and the United States The thematic organization of the collection interrogating housing expertise the state apparatus segregation and colonialism highlights the methodological questions that underpin its international outlook The book will appeal to students and scholars in architecture architectural history theory and urban studies European Architect Law Stéphanie van Gulijk,2009 The legal relationship between architects and clients suffers from two basic tensions that have been debated in several European countries First the market for design of buildings is not the exclusive domain of architects anymore Other disciplines have gradually encroached on the architect s core activities Many new forms of contract have been developed in the construction industry These market models no longer fit the traditional design contract departing from the idea that an architect designs a structure that is fit for its purpose and subsequently supervises the realization of the design by the building contractor Second designing buildings is a low yield high risk endeavor If the obligations of architects under the design contract are not performed well they are exposed to severe liabilities which may cause serious financial problems Detailed comparative research on design contracts shows that rule makers have difficulties in dealing with these two tensions In Europe considerable differences exist regarding the national rules that apply to the contractual relationship between architects and clients Therefore in this study four regulation issues have been investigated that deal with establishing rules to govern the two tensions market entry regulation architect liability limitation of architect liability and professional liability insurance In order to evaluate these regulation issues a law and economics perspective is applied The book will help to establish which combination of regulation options is likely to lead to more efficient outcomes It provides insights in what is the best way to deal with the two tensions in the relationship between architects and clients and it contributes to establishing a new design for European architect law

Railways in the Netherlands A. J. Veenendaal, 2001 This book traces the origin growth decline and resurrection of the railway system of the Netherlands from its beginnings to privatization in the 1990s and places its history in the context of the political and socioeconomic development of the country At first the largely agrarian and mercantile Dutch society saw little use for such a novel system of transportation thanks to a highly developed system of roads and waterways However the success of early English railways did not go unnoticed and in 1834 a plan was developed for a railway from Amsterdam to the Prussian Ruhr area to replace the transportation system along the Rhine River Although this initial plan was finally abandoned other lines were opened in 1839 The technology was largely borrowed from England and Belgium but from the outset Dutch engineers played an important role in the development of the network Apart from a short lived state system the first railways were built and operated by private companies but when this did not result in an efficient network the state stepped in again in 1860 to bring coherence By 1900 the national network was complete but labor unrest escalated leading to the national strike of 1903 which reverberated for many years in the Dutch Parliament railroad board rooms and socialist political parties The exigencies of World War I increased the grip of the state on the railways which ultimately resulted in 1938 in the complete unification of the railways albeit under public ownership In the 1920s and 1930s competition from other forms of transportation resulted in a curtailing of services and the closing of unprofitable lines World War II devastated the Dutch railway system and necessitated an almost complete rebuilding In the postwar era population growth greater mobility pollution problems and lack of space for new highways led to an intensive use of existing railways and the construction of new lines to link new suburbs and airports with the existing network The privatization craze of the 1990s separated the ownership of the network from its operations but the final relationship has yet to be established

Integrated Buildings Leonard R. Bachman, 2004-01-27 An anatomical study of building systems integration with guidelines for practical applications Through a systems approach to buildings Integrated Buildings The Systems Basis of Architecture details the practice of integration to bridge the gap between the design intentions and technical demands of building projects. Analytic methods are introduced that illustrate the value, benefit, and application of systems integration as well as guidelines for selecting technical systems in the conceptual schematic and design development stages of projects. Landmark structures such as Eero Saarinen's John Deere Headquarters, Renzo Piano's Kansai International Airport, Glenn Murcutt's Magney House, and Richard Rogers's Lloyd's of London headquarters are presented as part of an extensive collection of case studies organized into seven categories: Laboratories, Offices, Pavilions, Green Architecture, High Tech Architecture, Airport Terminals, and Residential Architecture. Advanced material is provided on methods of integration, including an overview of integration topics, the systems basis of architecture, and the integration potential of various building systems. An expanded case study of Ibsen Nelsen's design for the Pacific Museum of Flight is used to demonstrate case study methods for tracing integration through any work of architecture. Visually enhanced with more than 300 illustrations, diagrams, and photographs, Integrated Buildings: The Systems Basis of Architecture is a valuable reference guide for architecture and civil engineering students as well as architects, engineers, and other professionals in the construction industry.

Sustainable Architectural Design Kuppaswamy Iyengar, 2015-05-15. This book is a guide to a sustainable design process that moves from theory to site and energy use to building systems and finally to evaluation and case studies so you can integrate design and technology for effective sustainable building. Kuppaswamy Iyengar shows you how to get it right the first time: use free energy systems and utilize technologies that minimize fossil fuel use. Each chapter has a sustainable design overview, technical details, and strategies marked by clear sections, a summary, and further resources. Heavily illustrated with charts, tables, drawings, photographs, and case studies, the book shows technologies and concepts integrated into cohesive project types from small and large office spaces to single and multiuse residences, hospitals, schools, restaurants, and warehouses to demonstrate implementing your designs to meet clients' needs now and for the future. Includes an overview of alternate assessment and evaluation systems such as BREEAM, CASBEE, GBTool, Green Globes, alongside LEED, ECOTECT, energy 10, HEED, and eQuest simulation programs. The guide reveals the importance of the building envelope: walls, superstructure, insulation, windows, floors, roofs, and building materials on the environmental impact of a building and has a section on site systems examining site selection, landscape design, thermal impact, and building placement.
