The Nervous System

The nervous system is an extremely complex, highly organized, and very sensitive structure that regulates all the functions of the human body. The main purpose of the nervous system is to receive information from the environment and the body, and to coordinate the response. The nervous system is divided into the central nervous system (CNS) and the peripheral nervous system (PNS).

Central Nervous System

The central nervous system (CNS) is the part of the nervous system that is located in the brain and spinal cord. It is the main control center of the body, and it is responsible for all the functions of the body. The CNS is divided into the brain and the spinal cord. The brain is the part of the CNS that is located in the head, and it is responsible for all the functions of the body. The spinal cord is the part of the CNS that is located in the back, and it is responsible for all the functions of the body. The CNS is the part of the nervous system that is responsible for all the functions of the body.

Peripheral Nervous System

The peripheral nervous system (PNS) is the part of the nervous system that is located outside the CNS. It is responsible for all the functions of the body. The PNS is divided into the somatic nervous system and the autonomic nervous system. The somatic nervous system is responsible for all the functions of the body that are under conscious control. The autonomic nervous system is responsible for all the functions of the body that are not under conscious control.

The PNS is divided into the somatic nervous system and the autonomic nervous system. The somatic nervous system is responsible for all the functions of the body that are under conscious control. The autonomic nervous system is responsible for all the functions of the body that are not under conscious control. The somatic nervous system is divided into the motor and sensory pathways. The motor pathway is responsible for all the functions of the body that are under conscious control. The sensory pathway is responsible for all the functions of the body that are not under conscious control.

Diagram 1

The Brain

The brain is the most important part of the nervous system. It is responsible for all the functions of the body. The brain is divided into the cerebrum, cerebellum, and brainstem. The cerebrum is the part of the brain that is responsible for all the functions of the body that are under conscious control. The cerebellum is the part of the brain that is responsible for all the functions of the body that are not under conscious control. The brainstem is the part of the brain that is responsible for all the functions of the body that are not under conscious control.

Nervous Systems and Control of Behavior Charles Derby, Martin Thiel, 2014-09-24 Crustacean Nervous Systems and their Control of Behavior is the third volume of the series The Natural History of the Crustacea This volume is on the functional organization of crustacean nervous systems and how those nervous systems produce behavior It complements other volumes on related topics of feeding biology reproductive biology endocrine systems and behavioral ecology There is a rich history of the study of the neurobiology of crustaceans going back over 150 years This has included studies on how their nervous systems allow them to perform behaviors that are adapted to their particular environments as well as studying them as model organisms to understand basic biomedical principles about neural function such as sensory transduction and processing synaptic transmission and integration neuromodulation and learning and memory The volume has three sections that build progressively on each other The first section is on the basic organizational features of the crustacean nervous system and the principles upon which it is built The second section is on sensory ecology the organization of each sensory system and how it is used in intra and interspecific interactions within an ecological context The third section uses case studies of how crustacean nervous systems are organized to perform complex behaviors and interactions such as walking escape social interactions and memory and learning Taken together the 20 chapters synthesize our modern understanding of the neural control of behavior in crustaceans based on the most recent technologies in physiological recording molecular biology and computational science This volume will be useful to students and researchers as a concise summary of current knowledge of crustacean neuroscience Nervous Systems and Control of Behavior Charles Dorsett Derby, Martin
