Braving the Future Douglas Estes, 2018-11-06 Humanity is nearing a technological tipping point The blistering pace of technological scientific and social change is ushering in an era in which human bodies merge with devices corporations know everything about us and artificial intelligence develops human and even godlike potential In possession of the most powerful tools history has ever seen we will be faced with questions about wisdom authority faith desire and what it means to be human In Braving the Future Douglas Estes equips Christians to thoughtfully and prayerfully prepare for a future of technological reign that is rapidly expanding Drawing on Scripture Christian tradition and scientific literature Estes offers a theology of work creation and personhood that is both prophetic and sturdy enough to keep pace with the technology of a future as yet unknown He helps readers choose trust in God over fearful retreat and following Jesus over uncritical engagement with technology The future may not look exactly like a science fiction movie but are we ready to brave a future of limitless tech and boundless change

Evangelicals Engaging in Practical Theology Helen Morris, Helen Cameron, 2022-03-30 This book aims to introduce a distinctively evangelical voice to the discipline of practical theology Evangelicals have sometimes seen practical theology as primarily a liberal project This collection however actively engages with practical theology from an evangelical perspective both through discussion of the substantive issues and by providing examples of practical theology done by evangelicals in the classroom the church and beyond This volume brings together established and emerging voices to debate the growing role which practical theology is playing in evangelical and Pentecostal circles Chapters begin by addressing methodological concerns before moving into areas of practice Additionally there are four short papers from students who make use of practical theology to reflect upon their own practice Issues of authority and normativity are tackled head on in a way that will inform the debate both within and beyond evangelicalism This book will therefore be of keen interest to scholars of practical evangelical and Pentecostal theology Digital Creatives and the Rethinking of Religious Authority Heidi A.

Campbell,2020-09-08 Much speculation was raised in the 1990s during the first decade of internet research about the extent to which online platforms and digital culture might challenge traditional understandings of authority especially in religious contexts Digital Creatives and the Rethinking of Religious Authority explores the ways in which religiously inspired digital media experts and influencers online challenge established religious leaders and those who seek to maintain institutional structures in a world where online and offline religious spaces are increasingly intertwined In the twenty first century the question of how digital culture may be reshaping notions of whom or what constitutes authority is incredibly important Questions asked include Who truly holds religious power and influence in an age of digital media Is it recognized religious leaders and institutions Or religious digital innovators Or digital media users What sources processes and or structures can and should be considered authoritative online and offline Who or what is really in control of religious technological innovation This book reflects on how digital media simultaneously challenges and empowers new and traditional forms of religious authority It is a gripping read for those with an interest in communication culture studies media studies religion religious studies sociology of religion computer mediated communication and internet digital culture studies Engaging

What Does the Community Need Church Transformation Processes and Church Theory Demographic shifts and declining financial power are central to the processes of change that have been underway at all levels of the church for roughly the past twenty years How can the tasks of the church be fulfilled in the face of these challenges Which theoretical concepts of church and community prove to be appropriate and to promote faith for the Protestant church in the 21st century The implicitly guiding images of church community and devotional practice give rise to the following questions How can decisions in church transformation processes be supported by ecclesiological concepts How does ecclesiology i.e. theory of church and community generate its expertise over the church community How can a constructive and critical interplay be arranged between theological theory building and the development of church organization

Minority Churches as Media Settlers Dorota Hall, Marta Kołodziejska, Kerstin Radde-Antweiler, 2023-06-01 How do minority Christian churches adapt to and negotiate with the changes brought about by deep mediatization How do they use their media to present themselves to their followers and the general public This book aims to answer these questions by investigating how minority organizations of two different Christian traditions in the UK and Poland the Seventh-day Adventist Church and the Orthodox Churches use their own media to position themselves in their social religious and political environments Based on the analyses of media practices media content and interview material the study develops the new concept of media settlers which pertains to religious organizations that use their media to fulfill their own aims expand assert their authority and maintain their communities They do so through five key media practices which can be defined as strategies acknowledgment authorization omission replication of content and mass mediatization of digital media This book is of particular interest to scholars of religion and mediatization mainly sociologists graduate students and qualitative researchers working with discourse analysis It is an insightful read for anyone interested in the Seventh-day Adventist and Orthodox Churches nowadays

Postdigital Theologies Maggi Savin-Baden, John Reader, 2022-09-01 This book is about the relationships between technologies and the content of religious belief and practice A number of models are now starting to emerge but each of these depends on the theological or philosophical framework within which the debate is set At the same time there are dilemmas operating at different ends of the spectrum For example at one end there is a tendency towards subsuming the digital within the divine and at the other an instrumental stance relating to how technology is deployed Either of these stances could be said to ignore rather than acknowledge that the human itself is being changed as a result of the interactions with the digital The book explores the following areas Where is God to be found or present in the postdigital condition What are the implications of the postdigital condition for spirituality and indeed for the activity of God through the Holy Spirit How do concepts of transhumanism or posthumanism effect understandings of the incarnation Does the doctrine of the Trinity need revisiting in the light of the digital as medium of relationship Does Creation now include the postdigital What of the Kingdom of God now that the kingdom of the Tech giants is so powerful all consuming
