Integrated Network Management VIII Germán Goldszmidt, Schönwälder Jürgen, 2013-06-05 Welcome to 1M 2003 the eighth in a series of the premier international technical conference in this field As IT management has become mission critical to the economies of the developed world our technical program has grown in relevance strength and quality Over the next few years leading IT organizations will gradually move from identifying infrastructure problems to providing business services via automated intelligent management systems To be successful these future management systems must provide global scalability for instance to support Grid computing and large numbers of pervasive devices In Grid environments organizations can pool desktops and servers dynamically creating a virtual environment with huge processing power and new management challenges As the number type and criticality of devices connected to the Internet grows new innovative solutions are required to address this unprecedented scale and management complexity The growing penetration of technologies such as WLANs introduces new management challenges particularly for performance and security Management systems must also support the management of business processes and their supporting technology infrastructure as integrated entities They will need to significantly reduce the amount of adventitious bootless data thrown at consoles delivering instead a cogent view of the system state while leaving the handling of lower level events to self managed multifarious systems and devices There is a new emphasis on autonomic computing building systems that can perform routine tasks without administrator intervention and take prescient actions to rapidly recover from potential software or hardware failures

Intelligence in Services and Networks. Paving the Way for an Open Service Market Han Zuidweg, Mario Campolargo, Jaime Delgado, Al Mullery, 2008-01-03 Paving the Way for an Open Service Market We live in an age when powerful communications technology is becoming available to everyone From our home we can send and receive not only analogue voice but also growing volumes of digital information and even intelligence in the form of agents We are becoming increasingly mobile and are expecting the same level of connectivity in the home in the office and on the road The regulatory and commercial environment in which we communicate is changing The telecommunications market is becoming increasingly competitive The Internet is erasing the borders between information technology and telecommunications And the way we do business is ever more dominated by electronic exchanges of information Is our technology ready for the open market of networks and services Can we manage the growing complexity of computing and telecommunications technology and place it at the service of the people The challenge for the research community is to develop the tools and techniques that will ultimately bring the full power of communications and information to everyone in a way that everyone can easily use The Sixth International Conference on Intelligence in Services and Networks IS N 99 is all about technology for paving the way to the open services market Since the first IS N conference in 1992 the focus of the IS N program has continually shifted We see existing technologies maturing while new ones emerge but the bottom line has always been putting technology at the service of the people First-Episode Psychosis and Co-Occurring Substance Use Disorders: (Evidence-Based Resource Guide Series) U.S. Department of Health and Human Services,2019-11-19 This guide contains a foreword and five chapters The chapters are modular and do not need to be read in order Each chapter is designed to be brief and accessible to health care providers health care system administrators community members and others working to meet the needs of individuals at risk for experiencing or recovering from a substance use disorder and or mental illness The goal of this guide is to review the literature on treating substance misuse and substance use disorders in the context of first episode psychosis distill the research into recommendations for practice and provide examples of the ways that these recommendations can be implemented by first episode psychosis treatment programs Global Midwifery: Principles, Policy and Practice Joy Kemp,Gaynor D. Maclean,Nester Moyo,2021-01-05 This textbook is the first authoritative in depth publication about global midwifery and the contribution of skilled professional midwives to the provision of high quality maternity care reductions in maternal and newborn mortality and morbidity It demonstrates actions that are contributing to the achievement of the 2030 Sustainable Development Goals through partnership with women and their families enabling them to survive thrive and transform The textbook explores how the world is becoming more connected through globalisation advances in technology and innovation and yet more inequitable as women and children are disproportionately affected by issues such as poverty environmental vulnerability hunger conflict violence and discrimination It considers how midwives contribute to maternal and newborn health leading to greater equity and empowerment and ultimately strengthening health systems The three pillars of midwifery are discussed regulation education and professional midwives associations The importance of evidence based care is explored along with different models of midwifery and the challenges of developing professional leadership This textbook also considers women's human rights to sexual and reproductive health and respectful maternity care stressing the importance of cultural sensitivity and contextually appropriate approaches Midwives and other professionals will benefit from this reliable resource that indicates direction and provides information about the principles and practice of professional midwifery This text also provides universities organisations and individuals with a highly relevant resource to better equip them for international midwifery practice It finally offers policy makers a reliable source of evidence based information for consideration in various evolving national and international situations
