Artificial Intelligence and Work John Bratton, Laura Steele, 2024-12-04

In an era marked by insecurity from neoliberalism, financial volatility, political instability, regional conflicts, pandemics, and the climate crisis, Artificial Intelligence (AI) is revolutionizing our work organizations, societies, and the environment. This critical text explores who truly benefits from AI's development and deployment, offering a comprehensive overview of AI's nature, history, and applications. It delves into crucial themes such as the future of work, digitalization, neoliberalism's impact, power dynamics, ethics, inequality, gender, race, intersectional discrimination, and environmental sustainability. Unlike practical machine learning guides, this book examines how AI and AI-based technologies are transforming work, highlighting both benefits and potential harms. Combining critical management and leadership studies with organizational sociology, it addresses societal implications, inequality, ethics, and power often overlooked by other textbooks. John Bratton's lucid and engaging writing style brings a cutting-edge subject to life, blending breadth, critical analysis, and academic rigor. Contemporary examples illustrate AI's real-life implications for organizations and work today, while thought-provoking questions encourage readers to engage with and reflect on the topics throughout.

Authored by John Bratton, an Honorary Professor at Queen's University Belfast, and Laura Steele, a Senior Lecturer in Business and Society at Queen's University Belfast, this interdisciplinary text is essential for students studying contemporary and emerging issues in business and management, including AI, business analytics, digitalization, and the future of work. It is also recommended for courses on the sociology of work, ethics, organization studies, management, leadership, and HRM. This book is poised to become an essential textbook for courses on AI, digitalization, and the future of work, making it a valuable resource for students and educators alike.

Image Processing and Computer Vision Masterclass with Python Sandipan Dey, 2025-07-31

DESCRIPTION: Image processing and computer vision technologies, combined with the rapid advancements in generative AI, have become foundational to many modern applications. As visual data continues to grow exponentially the ability to analyze interpret and generate images using advanced algorithms and AI is more critical than ever for driving innovation across industries This book provides a thorough exploration of advanced techniques and practical implementations in the field of computer vision This book offers a problem oriented approach that bridges traditional image processing with modern machine learning and generative AI methods This new edition significantly expands into specialized domains with medical imaging applications using professional libraries like pydicom ITK and nnUNet for clinical diagnosis including COVID 19 detection and brain tumor segmentation plus remote sensing analysis with satellite processing By the end of this book readers will have developed strong practical skills in both classical and cutting edge image processing and computer vision techniques empowered to confidently design implement and adapt solutions across a wide range of real world applications They will emerge with a deep understanding of theory hands on coding experience and the ability to leverage AI and generative models to push the boundaries of visual computing

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

- Restore and enhance images using classical and deep learning methods
- Segment images with advanced clustering and neural network techniques
- Extract and match features for image alignment and recognition
- Build and train image classifiers with ML and AI

Artificial Intelligence and Universal Values Jay Friedenber, 2024-07-14 The field of value alignment or more broadly machine ethics is becoming increasingly important as artificial intelligence developments accelerate By alignment we mean giving a generally intelligent software system the capability to act in ways that are beneficial or at least minimally harmful to humans There are a large number of techniques that are being experimented with but this work often fails to specify what values exactly we should be aligning When making a decision an agent is supposed to maximize the expected utility of its value function Classically this has been referred to as happiness but this is just one of many things that people value In order to resolve this issue we need to determine a set of human values that represent humanity's interests. Although this problem might seem intractable, research shows that people of various cultures and religions actually share more in common than they realize. In this book, we review world religions, moral philosophy, and evolutionary psychology to elucidate a common set of shared values. We then show how these values can be used to address the alignment problem and conclude with problems and goals for future research. The key audience for this book will be researchers in the field of ethics and artificial intelligence who are interested in or working on this problem. These people will come from various professions and include philosophers, computer programmers, and psychologists, as the problem itself is multi-disciplinary.
