Der Zwart, TU Delft, Architecture and the Built Environment, 2015-03-01 In this thesis the ideas and concepts of Corporate Real Estate Management CREM are examined in terms of the contribution they could make to the process of accommodation decision by using recent cases in Dutch hospitals CREM can be defined as the management of the real estate portfolio of a corporation by aligning the portfolio and services with the needs of the core business in order to obtain maximum added value for the business and an optimal contribution to the overall performance of the organisation This definition assumes that accommodation can add value to the organisation and contribute to its overall achievement Elaborating on the added value of real estate in addition to quantifying these added values and making them applicable to hospital real estate management is therefore central to this study Tabellenboek wetenschappelijk onderwijs en onderzoek Rijksuniversiteit Groningen, 1993

Karel Martens, 2001 Karel Marten s work occupies a unique place in the present European art and design landscape While working in the tradition of Dutch modernism he maintains distance from the main developments of his time from both the practices of routinized Modernism and the facile reactions against it His work is personal and experimental while at the same time publicly answerable This book presents Martens graphic design oeuvre in reproductions of startling fidelity and described in informal captions Printed on uncoated paper and Chinese bound the book itself has a compelling tactile quality For this long awaited second edition twenty four pages have been added to cover Marten s most recent work
