Postcards Lydia Pyne, 2021-10-13 A global exploration of postcards as artifacts at the intersection of history science technology art and culture Postcards are usually associated with banal holiday pleasantries but they are made possible by sophisticated industries and institutions from printers to postal services When they were invented postcards established what is now taken for granted in modern times the ability to send and receive messages around the world easily and inexpensively Fundamentally they are about creating personal connections links between people places and beliefs Lydia Pyne examines postcards on a global scale to understand them as artifacts that are at the intersection of history science technology art and culture In doing so she shows how postcards were the first global social network and also here in the twenty first century how postcards are not yet extinct

Domestic United States Military Facilities of the First World War 1917-1919 Robert Swanson, 2000-02 This book attempts to list every place in the United States and Territories where soldiers sailors or marines might have been stationed during the First World War The reason for such a list is to provide source locations and checklists for postal history letters and cards from these military men The book lists all fixed land based United States military camps and facilities that operated during the War period There has long been a need for such a listing as it was not known where military mail could have originated within the US
