Labour Migration in the European Union Gönül Oğuz, 2020-03-12 No analysis of migration in Europe today can avoid consideration of the role of the EU institutions as well as the member states in policy making This is because the obstacles for labour mobility which have confronted the EU in the post enlargement period have been multi dimensional in nature have encompassed many different aspects of European integration process and have operated at many different levels Recent developments in the free movement of labour in Europe entail a comprehensive analysis of the dynamic of migration policy process contextualising institutional change cooperation control and competition between the EU institutions and the member states This book provides a picture of how governance of labour migration is constructed managed negotiated and decided at the European level It brings together in an informed and well organized way some of the key issues in the face of current migration crises and Brexit movement matters are also considered The book introduces a new conceptual framework for analysing practical reasoning in political discourses and applies it in the analysis of national free movement debates contextualised in respective migration histories In addition to results related to political discourses the study unearths wider problems related to free movement including the diversified and variegated approaches towards different groups of movers as well as the exclusive attitudes apparent in both discourses and policies The History and Politics of Free Movement within the European Union is of interest to anyone studying national and European politics and ideologies contemporary history migration policies and political argumentation Citizenship and Human Rights Christian H Kälin,2024-02-08 Can universal human rights and different national citizenship regimes ever be compatible This book argues that they can't setting out a legal philosophical critique of the tension between both It explores whether the emergence of postnational models of citizenship that aim at decoupling human rights and citizenship succeed in overcoming tensions between the universal multiculturalism universal human rights postnational values and the particular citizenship borders national values and diverse local narratives As a result of this exploration the author argues that it is illegitimate to speak of universal human rights universal human dignity or universal social justice It is only by recognising this reality that a much needed transformation of human rights and citizenship can be undertaken in a meaningful way This provocative and compelling work will appeal to both human rights and citizenship lawyers as well as others involved in human rights law at NGOs governments international organisations and indeed anyone with an interest in the subject of how human rights evolved and new concepts for the future Moral Issues in
