Middle Income Access To Justice Middle Income Access To Justice:

Middle Income Access to Justice M. Trebilcock, Anthony Duggan, Lorne Sossin, 2012-05-03 Though most conceptions of the rule of law assume equality before the law and hence equal access to the justice system this basic right is not being met for many low and middle income Canadians This book focuses on the problem of civil access to justice for middle income earners those whose household income is high enough to disqualify them from legal aid but not high enough to cover the costs of litigation Featuring contributions by leading Canadian and international scholars practitioners and members of the judiciary this multidisciplinary collection draws on scholarship in the fields of law social science and public policy There is a particular emphasis on family law consumer law and employment law as these are the areas where research has indicated that unmet legal needs are highest Middle Income Access to Justice presents a variety of innovative solutions from dispute resolution process reforms to the development of non lawyer forms of assistance and new methods for funding legal expenses In doing so it lays the foundation for the development of a much needed new delivery model to provide early intervention for legal services

The Role of Lawyers in Access to Justice Helena Whalen-Bridge, 2022-10-06 To a disturbing degree we are at the mercy of our time and place While law may provide relief for some of life's troubles that requires access to justice Accessibility is the focus of this volume which expands analysis of access to justice beyond the US and the UK to Asia and other comparative jurisdictions Chapters characterise access to justice dynamics in these jurisdictions by addressing how access is understood how it is achieved or not achieved and how the jurisdiction should improve The book addresses some issues seldom addressed in analyses of western jurisdictions such as paid mandatory legal services and mandatory public interest activities and provides English translations of relevant regulations The book expands our understanding of access to justice with a comparative perspective one that allows readers to identify relationships between access and its constitutive environment

Legislative Scrutiny Great Britain: Parliament: Joint Committee on Human Rights, 2012-12-12 One of the Defamation Bill's main provisions is the introduction of a statutory defence for responsible publication in the public interest which would put in place a checklist of factors for consideration by the court The Committee considers the proposed defence to be inflexible and suggests an alternative formulation which would use a test of reasonable belief that the publication was in the public interest that it believes will provide greater clarity and flexibility The Committee is also concerned that another proposed defence for website operators available where they do not author content and either facilitate contact with the author or remove material where they cannot establish contact could create a chilling effect for material online It recommends that the threshold for such material be raised from defamatory to unlawful to protect against that threat The Committee also calls for the Government to provide reassurance that those publishing defamatory material will be properly protected by the proposed clause establishing a single publication rule if it cannot the Committee encourages the Government to explore an alternative defence of non culpable republication recommends that the Bill be amended to ensure
